THANKSGIVING and, fortunately, a majority of the 115,000,000 of us have spiritual and financial reasons for gratitude.

President Coolidge reminds us that we are prosperous, and our duty is to be economical, and remain level-headed.

Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, richest State, advises people to pray for wisdom to use their prosperity wisely.

For one thing every man should be thankful. A little while ago he had no existence. Now he is on earth and, for a few years at least, able to study this beautiful planet, inherit its wisdom and contemplate the outside universe.

Even if he goes back to nothingness he should be thankful for his brief moment of consciousness.

Mrs. Ruth Snyder and her friend, Henry Judd Gray, murdered Mr. Snyder, who was in the way. The highest court says they must go to the electric chair in accordance with the jury verdict.

They will enter the death chamber through a little, narrow door and see the electric chair on the right near the wall with its side turned toward them, reporters with pencil and paper looking at them.

A strange meeting, at that little door, after their many other meetings. Which will go through the door first, what will they think? Or will fear mercifully stop thought as the electric current stops it?

How shameful that a community calling itself civilized should kill a woman by electricity, degrading science, by using it in official murder.

Modern miracles by science are less dramatic than old miracles by religious leaders. Millions believe that when Mohammed, hard pressed in battle, threw a handful of dust into the air the particles of dust were changed into angels on horseback that fought and won for him.

All eastern religions taught among their miracles curing of individual lepers. But leprosy continued to scourge and claim death victims.

Science announces now that leprosy will cease to exist in the next generation, thanks to the use of chaulmoogra oil. That systematic, scientific miracle works to protect all lepers everywhere, and to KILL leprosy.

RUTH AND JUDD PLAN APPEAL TO GOVERNOR AS COURT SEALS DOOM

New York, Nov. 23.—Governor "Al" Smith will not save Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder and Henry Judd Gray from the electric chair in the opinion of persons high in official life, but nevertheless defense counsel today were planning an appeal for clemency to be made to the Chief Executive within a week.

The week beginning January 9 was set today by the court as the time for the execution of the slayers of Mrs. Snyder's first husband.

MOTHER RISKS LIFE TO SAVE BABY IN HUB FIRE

Mrs. Philo Crimlink and her two-year-old daughter were badly burned in a fire in their home in Goodrich street, Brighton, today, while Mrs. Crimlink was nursing the child. The baby was returned to the hospital. Crimlink, an ex of a Boston fire lieutenant, was himself burned and suffered a severe shaking up when he leaped from a second floor window.

A man and two other women escaped the flames, coming from the first floor. They were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Duggan and her son.

RUTH REMUS TO TAKE STAND AGAINST 'DADDY'

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 23.—(U.S.)—Ruth Remus is expected to take the witness stand today. She will be the last witness for the State in the trial of her stepfather, George Remus, former mail house holder, for the murder of his second wife, Ruth's mother.

The defense has recently produced letters addressing him as "Dear Daddy," sent by Ruth to Remus when he was in prison at Atlanta, Ga.

Ruth was an eye-witness to the Remus Turn to Page 2, Column 8.

Pres. Calles Contributed $100,000 to Aid Strike

By JOHN PAGE

Copyright, 1927, by The Washington Herald.
Washington, Nov. 23.—Today's installment of the present series of articles in the American and associated foreign newspapers undoubtedly will come as a bombshell to England.

The British people will be astonished and pained to find that in their support and trials of last year there appeared the hand of the Chief Executive of a friendly nation, Plutarco Elias Calles.

Champion of the cause of unrest, in England as elsewhere in the world, President Calles backed the unsuccessful coal strike last year with $100,000, contributed as a secret aid to "the ideals of the proletariat."

Not only did Calles contribute directly to the strike fund of the British miners, but, according to evidence in the possession of the American, the Mexican Government also sent $250,000 to Arcos, Limited, of London, for further transfer to Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Minister.

The Mexican Executive intended this money to be used for the same broad purpose as other sums appropriated by him for use in Russia, China, Central America and his own country—the furtherance of the general Bolsheviki scheme. These various Calles gifts to the cause of the "world struggle" have been exposed in preceding articles of this series, always with the corresponding documents signed by Calles himself.

Well informed persons in Mexico City speak variously of "several" or "two or three" gifts by the Calles Government to the British Coal Miners' strike fund.

VIEW BOSTON AS PORT FOR DAILY OCEAN LINE

Representatives of the big transatlantic shipping line, made an inspection of the port of Boston today to determine local facilities for the proposed operation of a fast line of transatlantic steamships in a daily passenger service.

The visitors were Messrs. R. W. Elder, former president of the American Bureau of Shipping, and Mr. J. H. Elder, former president of the American Bureau of Shipping.

The inspection was made under the auspices of the Boston Harbor Commission.

Two brokers were arrested in the courthouses corridors today on charges of conspiracy to defraud.

Elmer M. Johnson of Alhambra road, Newton, with offices in Congress street, had just been arrested before Judge Zettoli in Municipal Court on five charges of conspiracy to defraud.

He was a member of the Board of Fire Underwriters and of the insurance firm of Randall, McCarthy & Co. The will leaves a bequest of $100,000 to the widow, Mrs. Josephine Randall McCarthy.

To each of two daughters, Louise and Marion L. McCarthy, $25,000 are made, and each of two brothers, William and Harry A. McCarthy, $10,000.

GIBBONS' AGED MOTHER PINS WISH TO 'GET RID OF HIM' ON YOUNG WIFE

Fall River, Nov. 23.—"My son's wife said if he couldn't get rid of Theodore one way, she would get rid of him another way."

In a trembling voice, Mrs. Elizabeth Gibbons Graham, aged mother of murdered Theodore T. Gibbons, thrilled spectators in a crowded courtroom today with these words at the trial of her son's alleged slayer.

"When did you have this conversation with Mr. Gibbons?" the witness was asked. She replied, "About four months before my son disappeared."

"Did you talk with her later, sometime before my son disappeared?"

THE CASE PRESIDENT CHAMPIONED CAUSE OF BOLSHEVISM IN ENGLAND

On June 4, 1926, while the British Empire was still feeling pretty shaky over the effects of the great general strike which had terminated on May 12 after tying up every industry for nine memorable days, President Calles ordered - via the Treasury Department to cable $100,000 to the Mexican Minister in London to help keep the coal strike going. Reported photographically elsewhere in the American, this order follows, textually:

To the Citizen Secretary of the Treasury.

You will please order the Citizen Financial Agent of Mexico in New York to transfer by cable and through the Minister of Mexico in London, the sum of $100,000 (One hundred thousand dollars) to be delivered to the fund of the Coal Miners' Union, as a secret aid contributed by the Government of Mexico to the maintenance of the ideals of the proletariat.

"IN 'SPECIAL CODE'"

The money, as usual in such cases, was ordered transmitted through the Mexican Fiscal Agency in New York, the operation to be conducted in "special code" and with the necessary safeguards against the affair leaking out to the avowed world.

Evidence of another Mexican contribution to the cause of Communism is contained in a letter written August 5, 1926, by Arturo M. Elias, Mexican Consul General in New York, to Gilberto Valenzuela, Mexican Minister to Great Britain.

A copy of this letter is held by the Hearst papers.

The letter informed Minister Valenzuela that on August 2, Elias had cabled $250,000 to Madrid, for further transfer to the Midland Bank of London. Valenzuela was informed that he should draw it from this bank in cash in order not to leave any trace of its next recipient which was Arcos, Limited, the Russian Soviet "Trade" Organization, which was raised by the British police on last May 12. The ultimate recipient of the money, the letter stated, was to be Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet Minister of Foreign Affairs.

PAPERS BURNED

The "Arcos Raid" conducted by Scotland Yard operatives and uniformed London policemen numbering more than a hundred resulted from evidence accumulated by the British Secret Service showing that, although operating as a "trade" organization, Arcos in reality was a centre for radical activities aimed directly at the overthrow of the British Government.

Arcos, Limited, was located in "Soviet House," in Moorfields, a part of London's financial district. The police arrested the building at the beginning of the raid and conducted the search with true British efficiency. But in spite of their speed when they reached offices on the upper floors they were just in time to see burning heaps of papers just turning to ash. The ma-

Disclosures Today

TODAY'S article, concerning the Bolshevik tendencies of President Calles of Mexico, shows through documents from the Mexican archives, that:

The Mexican Executive ordered that $100,000 be taken from the State treasury and forwarded to aid the cause of British coal miners who, in 1926, engaged in an eventful but unsuccessful strike.

This money was ordered transferred through the Mexican fiscal agent in New York, Arturo M. Elias, half-brother of the President.

In addition, the documents show that Calles also ordered $250,000 sent to Arcos, Ltd., of London, for transmission to Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet minister of foreign relations.

Not long after this order was issued, London police raided Arcos, Ltd., and found enough evidence to warrant the breaking of trade relations between Great Britain and Russia.

Justification of the documents which the police had hoped to find had been burned, but enough remained to justify the raid and result in a complete rupture of the diplomatic and commercial relations between Great Britain and Russia.

The letter written by Consul General Elias to Minister Valenzuela follows:

Consulate of Mexico, New York, N. Y.,

Aug. 5, 1926

Senior Gilberto Valenzuela,

Minister of Mexico,

London.

Very Esteemed Friend:

By means of this letter I inform you that on the second of this month I transferred to you, via Madrid, the sum of Two Hundred Fifty Thousand dollars, to be delivered by you to Senior M. Litvinoff, director of Arcos Limited, of London, and requesting the said Senior to give notice through the proper channels of the delivery of these funds to the Commissary Maxim Litvinoff (Russian Soviet Foreign Minister).

They advise me from Mexico that Madrid will effect the transfer to you through the Midland Bank of London. It is advisable that you withdraw the sum in cash, in order that there shall not remain any proof of the transaction in the said bank.

I have heard that your wife is ill. This I regret too much, and hope that she will recover quickly from her indisposition.

I salute you affectionately.

Consul General of Mexico.

The Mexican Minister in London, Senior Gilberto Valenzuela, being the sameness of the diplomatic pouch, The procedure to deliver his money without difficulty, as nothing appeared in the press about it. Not so with the Russians. According to the Whitehall Gazette, the Soviet Government succeeded in delivering the money only by violating the sanctity of the diplomatic pouch. The procedure according to the Whitehall Gazette, was as follows:

A sum of money in one pound and five pound notes, is placed in a red envelope in Moscow.

This envelope is placed in a diplomatic pouch, and the whole is consigned to one of the secretaries of the Soviet Legation in London. He, in his turn, passes this envelope, unopened, to a woman, a member of the British Communist Party.

The woman meets a male member of the Communist Party in St. Bride Street. This man leaves on a motorcycle for an unknown destination, believed, however, to be the head office of the Communist Party.

When the British Government sent a note to the Russian Government formally protesting against its activities in financially supporting a strike which British and foreign radicals were trying to divert into revolutionary channels, the Soviet officials, doubtless with their tongues in their cheeks, denied having done anything of the sort.

WILL HE DENY IT?

Will President Calles enter a similar denial? No other course is open to him, even in the face of his own hand-written signature, unless he is willing to concede the possibility of a break with Great Britain. That signature, incidentally, is in the possession of the Hearst papers.

The British coal strike undoubtedly was an honest effort on the part of a powerful group of laboring men to avert the threat of decreased wages or increased hours, neither necessary, the mine owners claimed, if coal was to be produced cheaply enough for British industry to compete with those of other countries.

But this honest labor movement was seized upon instantly by Russian and British Communists with their radical allies in other parts of the world as an opportunity to undermine the stability of the British Government and prepare to initiate the long dreamed of "world revolution."

It is interesting to note that before extending aid to the British coal strikers, President Calles authorized an American writer and expert on social problems, Dr. Ernest H. Gruening, to study the situation in England. This authorization made some weeks before the strike was called, was in the form of an order on the Mexican Treasury Department for expenses.

The Calles order follows:

CALLES LETTER

To the Citizen Secretary of the Treasury.

You will please direct the Treasurer General of the Nation to order the issuance of a pay warrant for the sum of $10,000 (Ten thousand dollars) in favor of Senior Dr. Don Ernesto H. Gruening, for expenses on a voyage for the discharge of a mission confided to him by the Executive, the purpose of which is to study in London the situation of the striking coal miners.

You will please charge this pay warrant to SECRET EXPENDITURES of the Executive and exempt the interested party from the necessity of submitting an account of his expenditures.

N. E. INDUSTRIAL MISFORTUNES OVER--FORBES

BUSINESS NOW SHOWING AN ADVANCE

By B. C. FORBES.
New York, Nov. 23.—Is New England nearing the end of her misfortunes?

She has had to bear up against a great deal. Since back a bit, the collapse of the New Haven Railroad, wrecked New England with financial wreckage and had hurried a magnificent far beyond the pockets of the unhappy holders of the road's securities.

The war boom and the post-war boom didn't do quite as much for New England as it did for many other parts. When the 1920-1921 collapse came it hit particularly severely two of New England's main industries.

WATCH YOUR PLATE!
Here's Dr. Arthur G. Holland giving Mrs. D. A. McKenzie, of Everett, some good advice on the best way to enjoy that Thanksgiving dinner. First of all, he says, don't overeat, because that affects the heart.

EASY ON THE JUG!
Don't drink cider on an empty stomach. Doing so will impair your digestion and you've got to feel "right" if you're going to enjoy your own share of the feast.

NOTHING LIKE WATER!
After partaking of the "turkey and fixin's" drink plenty of water, adds the doctor. It will prevent that headache that often occurs following a heavy meal. Take a hint and keep the water pitcher handy!

AND THEN STEP OUT!
If you feel drowsy after the feast is over, don't go to sleep! The doctor says that's about the worst thing you can do. He recommends a nice, brisk walk in the open air. Now make it a perfect day!

POISON BOOZE IS FLOODING BOSTON

A warning to the "drinking public" that Boston is flooded with poisonous liquor for holiday sale was issued by the police today. A great percentage of the liquor recently seized has contained a large amount of wood alcohol, according to Captain George W. Patterson. In some instances the amount is as high as 8 and 10 per cent. It has been redistilled, but a large percentage of its poisonous content still remains. Captain Patterson said there was a large amount of liquor in the city for pre-Thanksgiving sale. The on the night and day liquor squads under Lieutenant Daniel J. Hines are on duty attempting to suppress the sale of contraband.

INSPECT PORT OF BOSTON

'WAIT FOR HIM' SAYS DRAPER PRINCESS

In how? Not Edmund? Not Touched by the deft and cunning fingers of Romance? Not. And that's what the Princess Andron Boncompagni, the former Margaret Preston Draper of Hopedale, in Boston on a visit, has to say about the buzzing rumors of Boston society that she is soon to wed again. Princess Boncompagni's marriage to the dashing Italian officer was annulled in 1922. Elaborate plans have been made in the Hub to entertain her. She arrived here from her French residence in Paris to spend the Winter at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel and particularly the holidays with her family. The daughter of the late General William F. Draper, she has a most pleasing personality. Today she was asked about another matrimonial venture. And she laughed, a blonde princess, long-haired and beautiful. "I'm a fatalist. When he comes along, well, maybe. But not yet. American or foreign. It wouldn't make any difference. It would be just he who would matter. But I'm not engaged if you like to know, nor am I contemplating marriage," she said. She plans to go into the country to spend Thanksgiving with her brother. And then there are the interests of her inheritance to be taken up and talked over with trustees. Many recall when the beautiful American girl inherited $500,000 of her father's estate. She is to remain in the Hub until the middle of December, and then she will go to Washington. There she will stay until February, and then she will go off on a South American cruise with brother Dick.

ACCEPTING INVITATIONS
Hub society plans many entertainments during the Princess' stay in Boston. She is at the Ritz-Carlton, but will spend the holiday with relatives. She denies being engaged or any intention of marrying again.

HIS CHIEF RECREATION
Charlie Taft finds his recreation on the golf course—and has since he was a boy. And he's something of an expert at the game, too. Since Remus shot his wife Taft has had little time for golf as the preparations for trial required days and days.

AL SMITH GIVES HIS VIEWS ON SCHOOLS

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 23 (A.P.)—Parochial and public schools alike teach here and devotion to their country, and obedience to the Constitution, Governor Alfred E. Smith, "chief parishioner" of the Roman Catholic Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, said in an address at the seventy-fifth anniversary celebration of the cathedral.

"In addition to this," said the Governor, "the Catholic school teaches the Ten Commandments of God, including love of neighbor, upon which all secular laws are based."

Governor Smith challenged anyone to show him that parochial school teaching conflicts in any way with American principles.

The State, he said, insists upon uniformity for all, and through the State Department of Education children attending Catholic schools are awarded the same secular training as those in the public schools.

MELLEN LEFT $500,000; GOES TO CHILDREN

Concord, N. H., Nov. 23 (A.P.)—Creation of trust funds for his children and bequests of stated sums for persons not blood relatives are contained in the will of Charles R. Mellen, former railroad president, who died here Nov. 22. The will, filed today, indicates the estate is approximately a half million dollars.

Trust legacies are left to his sons, Graham K. Mellen of Brooklyn, Amory Mellen of Tampa, Fla., Raymond Mellen of Utica, N. Y., and to the daughters, Marion F. Mellen of New Haven, Ct., Catherine L. Mellen, of New York, and Mrs. C. M. Mellen, of this city. Mrs. C. M. Mellen, is substantially concerned.

Letters bequests are made to Joseph G. Schilling of Brookline, Mass., and James McGregor and Orma Wessell of this city.

The widow will receive a quarterly allowance in accordance with an agreement entered into by the terms of a legal separation several years ago.

BETTY A DEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

The Philip L. Saltonstalls of Dedham Are Giving a Housewarming in December

AND NOW IT IS THE PHILIP L. SALTONSTALLS OF DEDHAM who are about to flavor the social scene with the tang that individuality and variety give. They are about to stage a housewarming, one of the real old fashioned sort. Having had built for themselves a fine new home out in Dedham's aristocratic section, they have asked all their friends to come in and help them celebrate its completion with feasting and dancing. They set the date for December 3, and everyone receiving a card to the affair is alert with anticipation.

THE SALTONSTALLS HAVE A HOST OF CLOSE FRIENDS, AND as for relatives, there are many of them in high places. The housewarming is sure to be a huge success with Mr. and Mrs. Saltonstall the hosts. As for the house, where the dining and the dancing and the celebration go on, live a handsome creation, hospitable and homelike, of stately lines and brick architecture, set in a wealth of garden-like surroundings. In Haven street, December 3 is a much starred date in the engagement books of the Saltonstalls' friends.

TURN ABOUT IS FAIR PLAY, SO THINKS THE NORFOLK HUNT and. And to think with them is to proceed to action. Thus, in the hunting appointments for this week, appears a specially interesting entry. It is for Saturday next, and commences with a run from Walpole Plains and winds up with a hunt dinner at the Kennebec in honor of Walter Channing and Frederick Deane. Mr. Channing has been "whip" and Mr. Deane "secretary" in services so auspicious, the hunt must express his great appreciation. Hence the dinner.

THANKSGIVING FOR THE NORFOLK HUNT MEANS A MORNING devoted to a run from "Morgantown." And that is turn means plenty of hospitality for the M. P. H. Henry G. Vaughan, and Mrs. Vaughan. Mr. Vaughan is the august personage who "leads them all in point of years in serving as a Master of Fox Hounds, and to say that the Norfolk set backs in the glory of his name is but putting the case mildly. His tenure of office runs well over a score of years, with his fame, snowball-like, increasing with the passing of time.

IT'S NOT EVERY PHILANTHROPIST THAT STAGES SUCH A gorgeous birthday anniversary celebration as the Theatre Benefit for Disabled Veterans. It was done to the queen's taste and was a top-notch in many ways. Socially, there was most enthusiastic support from the important ones of the town. Financially, the evening was even more successful. The affair reached remarkable heights. The inimitable Barrymore, the suave and polished Rogers, George Jessel, Cleo Mayfield and Cecil Lean—stars whose fame needs no recounting—of these and many others did their bit for the disabled.

CONSEQUENTLY, THERE IS THANKSGIVING IN THE HEARTS of Mrs. Robert Lincoln O'Brien and her associates—Miss Eleanor Snelling, Miss Eleanor Sears, Mrs. Fiske Warren—who have once again realized their hopes and secured a splendid amount of money to make the way of the disabled veteran in hospital care. He is a work that has absorbed Mr. O'Brien, heart and soul, for many years, so naturally he was beaming yesterday as the most successful benefit of them all took its entertaining way at the Hollis Street Theatre.

PERSONAGES WHOSE PRESENCE LENDS TESTIMONY TO ANY gathering were at the benefit. Holker Abbott and his associates—Mrs. William P. Fay, Mrs. Curtis Guild (hostess to a host of veterans), Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, Mr. and Mrs. George Blaney, Mrs. Harriet Fearing, Mrs. Nathaniel Simpkins, Mrs. Augustus N. Knapton, Mrs. W. Woods (pretty as a picture), Mrs. Mary Louise Allen, who always looks radiant, were noted in the audience.

MRS. NATHANIEL EMMONS AND MRS. JUDD DEWEY WERE in the large and representative company. Mrs. Augustus F. Goodwin brought friends. Mrs. George B. Deane, Mrs. Arthur Blake, Mrs. Elizabeth and Miss Edith Tucker evidenced their interest in the veterans' welfare by their presence and applauded the stars to the echo. Mrs. Deane is one of the biggest crowd pleasers in the city. Mrs. Deane is a true record. She served with the Y. W. C. A. in a position of trust and great accomplishment. Of course the Junior League girls, with Miss Alice de Normandie in the post of leadership.

IN ALL, THERE WERE A SCORE OF DEBUTANTES OVER WHOM Miss De Normandie held sway. Also one Junior debutante, Miss Orlandini, the charming niece of Mrs. Curtis Guild, who bears the lovely

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.)—Philip M. Tucker of Boston, who started the chain letter petition to drive President Coolidge into the presidency in 1924, today made public a statement requesting that all work on his plan stop at once.

Tucker denied printed reports that Frank W. Stearns had endorsed his chain-letter plan.

"Mr. Stearns had nothing to do with the idea," he said. "I never saw him before launching the plan, but made no mention of it to him. He was only to make certain that Mr. Coolidge's health would stand the strain of another term in the White House."

CARDINAL TO ATTEND MATTEUCCI JUBILEE. Cardinal O'Connell is to join with parishioners of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church, East Boston, tomorrow in the celebration of the silver jubilee of the Rev. CHAMBERLIN IS POLICE BUREAU ASKED TO BUILD IS IGNORED IN PLANES HERE 'PROMOTIONS'

Glarence Chamberlin, pilot of the flights to Germany, was urged today to build his proposed airplane factory in Boston.

Chamberlin has invested his transatlantic prize money in a concern which will build planes at $2500 each, the price later to be reduced to $1500, if practicable. Boston was urged as a location. Arthur F. Richmond of the Boston Chamber of Commerce in a letter to the famous aviator.

This move on the part of Mr. Richmond is one step in a program to stimulate development of the aviation industry in New England. "I am writing to suggest that you consider the advantage of a location in Boston or some other community in Massachusetts," he wrote. "At the present time there are no airplane factories in New England, although many of the important accessories are produced by New England industries."

"I am taking the liberty of enclosing a pamphlet, 'Boston, An Old City With New Opportunities,' prepared by our Commercial and Industrial Bureau, in order that you might examine closely areas of the situation in regard to Boston."

"May I offer you the hearty cooperation of our Committee on Aviation, the members of which, I am sure, will be glad to do what they can to assist you in finding a suitable location in this vicinity for your airplane factory."

MRS. ANDREWS TAKES SEAT IN STATE COUNCIL

In the presence of many women prominent in political, social and business life, Mrs. Esther M. Andrews of Brookline, today was sworn in as a member of the Governor's Council.

The oath of office to the first woman ever to hold the position was administered by Lieutenant-Governor Frank G. Allen in the council chamber. At the conclusion of the short ceremony, Mrs. Andrews was escorted to her seat in the horseshoe by Councilor Francis W. Aldrich of Springfield.

The new councillor was nominated by Governor Fuller to fill the vacancy in the third district caused by the death of the late Councilor Charles E. Smith of Lincoln. In the 1923 primary, Mrs. Andrews contested for the office and was runner-up.

Three committee assignments for Mrs. Andrews were made. She will sit on the committee handling waterways, public lands and railroads, the committee on State House and the committee of military and naval affairs.

Among the women at the history-making event were Mrs. Nelson W. Howard, president of the Profrat cort of Frank S. Davis, manager of the Maritime Association of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

BOSTON VIEWED AS PORT FOR DAILY LINERS

Commonwealth, the Army Base, the dry dock and other points were visited by motor after a view of the water front was obtained from the deck of a launch.

The delegation was then entertained at luncheon in the directors' room at the Chamber of Commerce.

Explaining the project Mr. Wilder said: "Our idea is to apply high speed railroad principles to ocean travel. Hence we plan, in the proposed Huse Ribben Line, to provide a daily passenger service linked up with railroad service so passengers may book at any point in this country for any railroad point in Europe."

"This will necessitate boat trains right to ship side, which means a big reduction in passenger service time, and a four-and-a-half-day mail service, which at present takes nine days in summer and eleven days in winter."

PLAN IS BIG SHIP.
"We plan a 'Twentieth Century Limited' across the Atlantic, like the high-speed service now so well patronized on land."

"But, more important is that our venture will prove an important step in upbuilding American marine service. We propose to build a fleet of ten ships each to cost $12,000,000. They are to be 400 feet in length, with a speed of 24 knots an hour and equipped to carry 400 first-class passengers."

"As we will not handle any other class and no freight to speak of, naturally our crews will be smaller and the upkeep correspondingly less. Also the daily service will avert heavy loss by keeping such valuable ships constantly in operation."

2 HUB BROKERS UNDER ARREST

The earlier charges had been continued to Dec. 15 on request of Representative Martin Hays, who said other charges were pending in the district attorney's office.

Judge Zottoli fixed bail at $5,000 and Johnson and his counsel walked into the corridor. Inspectors Farrell and Haggerty immediately stepped up and rearrested Johnson on new complaints. The arraignment followed and Judge Zottoli continued these also to Dec. 15.

At about the same time, Leo Golden of Morton street, Dorchester, was walking through the corridor when he was arrested by inspectors Connolly and Loughlin on a larceny charge involving $2,000.

He is alleged to have stolen the money from Leslie A. Pike and from the firm of Morris Pike & Sons, 311½ street, while holding himself out to be a broker in copper associated with a week.

3 ESCAPE IN CRASH ON CHARLESTOWN BRIDGE

Collision between a heavy truck and a sedan on the Charlestown Bridge resulted in three narrow escapes from death or injury today. The truck, driven by George J. Woods of Lynn street, Linden, collided with the sedan of Eric A. Champlain of Main street, Merens Highbridge.

The truck swerved and crashed through the railing, stopping with the front wheels hanging over the bridge and Woods still at the wheel. A fifteen-foot section of railing, broken off by the impact, fell to the tracks below, just missing John F. Crowley of Bradshaw street, Neponset, a gate tender.

'REDS' SEIZED IN CANCELING OF POLICY STIRS AUTO BOARD

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.)—A dozen avowed members of the Workers' (Communist) party engaged in picketing in front of the Standard Oil Building on lower Broadway were routed this afternoon. Four were arrested.

The Communists carried placards denouncing the strike attending the auto trouble in Colorado.

The pickets, who included five women, had paraded along Broadway with an ever-growing crowd following, calling them "fascists" and other names, and finally charging and dispersing them.

Three automobiles ordered the pickets to disperse, but they again marched in front of the oil company's building.

The crowd, including many office workers and laborers, meanwhile, was demanding their arrest and finally one man grabbed a placard from a picket's hands. This incited others to action and the crowd descended upon the pickets.

Two men, carrying a banner inscribed "We protest against the murder of Colorado strikers," were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct. Later two women were arrested.

Covering the night manager with a revolver, three young men ripped open the steel cash box of the Park Motor Livery Garage at No. 1319 Boylston street, Back Bay, early today and escaped with $100 in bills. Frank E. Gordon of Washington street, Cambridge, the manager, told the police that while he was bending over a tire on the floor of the garage, he was pushed to the floor by a man who had stealthily crept up behind him. When he turned, he was looking into the barrel of a revolver and warned to back up into a corner and remain quiet on peril of his life.

McLeod Fit To Tackle Malcewicz

Winds Up Training Today for Bout With Speedy Joe at "Grand" Tomorrow

Farmer George McLeod will today put the finishing touches on for his all-important match with Panther Joe Malcewicz at the Grand Opera House tomorrow night.

McLeod has been doing most of his training at both the gym in New York and is fit and ready. He plans a swift action on the road early this morning and the attention will give his public workout at the South End Gymnasium at 1100 Washington street.

Malcewicz was out rowing this morning on the Charles River, doing a strenuous workout this afternoon at the South End Gymnasium at 1100 Washington street.

The work of the afternoon will be open to the public and McLeod will start about five minutes after Malcewicz has finished.

Mike Kasarian, the Lubanet Amateur wrestler, has agreed to join in meeting Johnny Vargargini, the Italian champion, who has won so many matches that he gets nervous thinking about what it will feel like the first time he is defeated.

Vargargini feels sure that this thing will come over Mike tomorrow night, and he's been training hard with this in view. The first appearance of Joe Bull Komer, this fellow rivals Stasler for youth stuff, and has the largest chest of any wrestler in the game. He will meet two local boys.

Football Rally at English High Today

The annual English high school football rally will be held this afternoon in front of the Warren avenue entrance to the school. All the students and hundreds of graduates are expected to attend to lend encouragement to Coach Fredrick Murphree's Blue and White football team, who will meet their traditional rival, Latin school, at Fenway Park tomorrow morning.

Among those who will address the gathering in addition to Coach Murphree are Leo Daley, R. C. Manton, from McChes, Captain of the team. Honored guests will include Edwin Brown, president of the English High School Machinery Company; Charles R. Schmeider, retired member of the Schmeider Aluminum Company; and Judge A. K. Cohen, trustee of the English High School Association. Music will be furnished by the English High School band.

Jimmy Slattery Meets McCarthy

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Jimmy Slattery, local contender for the light heavyweight championship, and recognized as the best contender in the world, met McCarthy, a contender for the same title, in a fight for the championship at the Buffalo Athletic Club last night.

The clash native son is a slight favorite in the betting but local fans expect the Bostonian to make a good showing.

Hingham Wants Game

The Hingham Town team is with out a game for Thanksgiving Day due to a cancelled game. Area fans willing to play the Hingham eleven can telephone Albert Kimball, at Hingham 6091.

Inside Golf

By Chester Horton

The evidence in the case of Golf versus Offer indicates that the golf club attaches to much importance to the good show he makes and not enough to the bad ones. Watch the player who sends forth screaming drives from 17 feet and then, on the 18th, the ball for no reason at all, lands over the fence and abandons the hole. What a wall goes up! Right away the player considers himself have been badly mis-treated. He is the victim of an atrocious accident. All golf lack has absolutely by deserted him. Chances are he is no upset he will not be in the hole last hole. That attitude indicates a state of mind that will make real progress in golf come slowly. The terrible drive was not any accident. It gave evidence of his mind. It isn't the fault of the club, brother.

SNAPPY HEAD WORK

Joe Malcewicz, star matman, photoed while training for his big bout with Farmer McLeod at the Grand Opera House tomorrow evening. There is little hope for any of Joe's opponents when he gets 'em in such a position. But McLeod is smart enough to ward off any such attempt on Malcewicz' part to throw him skyward.

FITTON TEAM ON SHORT END OF ODDS

Pure Marquette will be a 10 to 1 favorite over the Pitts when the two teams take the field at Fenway Park for their 11th annual gridiron clash on Thanksgiving afternoon.

These odds are a bit low when one considers the rivalry that exists between the two leading amateur gridiron squads of Greater Boston.

The season's record of the Perses which is the superior total of the Perses is the big difference in the wagers being made. The Perses' outfit has lost but two games this year.

The Perses were defeated by the New York Giants and the Plymouth team on previous days.

The defeat by the Gotham team was something looked for and the much bruised Perses were in no condition to battle the sturdy Plymouth eleven.

The East Boston team was held to no score tie by all except the Perses and U. S. S. Florida eleven. The Perses were slow in starting and have now reached their true form.

In defeating the Perses and Florida teams the Perses played as one. Carl Edmonds, Tony Ford and "Butsy" Varsoli showed the same form as when they represented their respective colleges.

All are fit and ready for the big game. The Perses will have Red Quinlan back at center for the first time. The outcome is a toss up regardless of what those that wager might guess.

Merrill vs. Cards

The Perses and the Cardinals will meet Thanksgiving Day after noon at Merritt Field, the local gridiron for the Perses.

The Perses have made many changes in their lineup and the Cardinals new team is powerful enough to win the title.

25 Per Cent. Tax on Fight Tickets to Net $500,000

Washington, Nov. 22.—A tax of 25 per cent. on tickets for prize fights selling at $5 or more each, with a 10 per cent. levy on tickets selling between $1 and $5, was written into the new revenue bill by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Treasury officials estimated that the 25 per cent. impost on boxing matches, will net the government $500,000 in revenue.

YALE PLAYERS ELECT EDDY

New Haven, Ct., Nov. 22.—A dark horse, Maxon Hunter Eddy, a Yale football captain for next year, was elected captain of the Yale team.

His choice was a complete surprise as Johnny Hobart, quarterback, and Johnny Charlesworth, center, were looked upon as the most likely selections for the position.

The election took place at the annual banquet at the hotel last night. Eddy is twenty years old, weighs 150 pounds and is six feet one inch in height. He played right tackle this season.

Coach Sampson's Ideas May Revolutionize Game

By HERBERT GARYL

"I took the druggery out of football, made it a game of fun rather than a business."

That was what Arthur G. Sampson, head coach of Tufts, told me, with a happy smile spreading over his face. I had asked him to tell me the secret of how he produced the East's only unbeaten and untied college football eleven.

"I got the idea last season, my first year as a college coach," he continued.

"Three games in a row we led our opponents up to the second half and then we went to pieces. Our objective game with Mass. Agricultural College, our traditional rival, was only a week away and I got to thinking."

"I had lived up to every football practice rule. Had worked the boys at the tackling dummy and in scrimmages. I had worked them at the bucking machine. I had given them blackboard talks. I kept them at the training table."

"I just naturally came to the conclusion that they were overworked, that they were tired and stale."

"If we lose the Aggie game I'm going to be criticized good and bad. I said to myself, if I keep on working them and we lose, I'll be criticized. If I stop this serious business and we lose, I'll be criticized just the same. So I came to the conclusion that I'd do what I thought best."

MILITARY GAME FOR FLOOD FUND TOMORROW

While National Guardmen of Vermont are proving their worth working in the flood zone, the National Guardmen of Boston will do their bit for the flood sufferers.

Proceeds from the sale of programs at the annual football game between Battery A and the First Corps Cadets, to be played Thanksgiving Day, will be turned over to Ralph Eastman of the state street.

For many years the game has been held at Technology Field, where this year's game will be played. Interest in this game is always high through the rivalry between these two associations.

The alumni of both outfits will be well represented, cheering sections will lead their sections and the First Corps band will play.

Dave Quaranta will play in the back field for the First Corps, while Jim Conne of the Harvard team will play for the Cadets.

The game will start at 10:30.

In the second article Friday Head Coach Arthur G. Sampson told how he brought the Tufts team up to tackling heights, how and why he abolished the training table.

Many good Tufts men will play a few more miles and offer their services to the American Red Cross. See Classified Ad.

Speedy Tigers Ready for Philly Arrows

A surprise is in store for the thousands of hockey fans who attend the Boston Tiger-Philadelphia Arrow game in the Canadian-American League series at the Arena tomorrow night.

The followers are going to see one of the best balanced hockey teams ever played on Boston ice when Coach Eddie Powers leads his Tigers into action. Powers has everything in his Tiger lineup, speed, combination play, ruggedness and intelligence.

It always is the ambition of every coach to get a rugged forward line to wear down the opposition's best attack and then shoot out a pony line of scorers to clinch the game. Powers has this combination at his command this season.

Bishop Slattery Sees Thanksgiving Lesson

THANKSGIVING DAY makes us ask serious questions about our life as a nation. As the years pass, have we abler and more honorable servants of the people in Washington, our state capitals and our city halls? Is the public opinion of the country more sensitive, more insistent on truth and righteousness?

Are our newspapers cleaner, leading the best, not following the bad or indifferent? Are our schools and colleges turning out men and women willing to sacrifice themselves for the public good and to subordinate their own comfort and prosperity?

Do men and women turn to God for guidance and approval in all their works and deeds?

If as we try to answer these questions we can see a genuine hope for the future, we can, with full heart, give thanks to God on this Thanksgiving Day.—Rt. Rev. Charles Lewis Slattery, D. D., Bishop of Massachusetts.

WITH DANCE OR PRAYER THEY'LL GIVE THANKS

Churches, charitable institutions, fraternal orders, Federal, State and city officials as well as private individuals are preparing today for the coming of Thanksgiving.

Thoughts of the less fortunate in the midst of abundance, and the struggle under the exorbitant cost of living.

Tonight, really, the festivities are held in most every section of the city and every hamlet of the State, including winter parties, dances, religious and church services.

The Protestant churches of Wintthrop open their services in St. John's Episcopal Church at eight o'clock. At the same hour the eight Protestant churches of Arlington Center and East Arlington unite in the St. Charles Methodist Episcopal Church, Mass.

Episcopal Church, Mass. In Somerville, members of the United Square church will assemble in St. Thomas' Episcopal Church while the churches of the Winter Hill section unite in the Winter Hill Baptist Church.

UNION SERVICE TOMORROW.

Tomorrow opens with an observance of the day at Symphony Hall in which ten denominations will unite. The services are under the direction of the Greater Boston Council of Churches.

Other morning services include a union service in the Park Street Church in combination with Tremont Temple and the First Presbyterian Church of the City, A. S. Corcoran will preside. The First Church of Christ, Scientist, has arranged for a lesson-lesson on Thanksgiving at 10:45.

Unification of Boston will unite at the Arlington Street Church with those from King's Chapel, Second Church and Church of the Deseribes. The Pilgrim Congregational Church, Columbia Corner, Dorchester, St. James' Church, Roxbury, and Doubleday Street Church are but a few others conducting morning services.

Nonline plans of organizations consist wholly in dinners for needy persons or of all classes, celebrations and "reads" for inmates of institutions.

In Sheriff Kellher's "hotel," Charles Street Jail, arrangements have been made for turkey dinners for 300 persons.

AT STATE PRISON.

At Charlestown State Prison, Warden Hendry has the task of feeding 107 inmates on the first Thanksgiving at the prison. After a show, featuring the moving picture "Ben Hur" in the morning.

Prisoners will be allowed a short liberty period in the yard followed by dinner consisting of roast pork, all the fat, and a whole mince pie for each.

Sheriff Kellher will play host to 320 inmates at the East Cambridge Jail, the program starting at 10 a. m.

At the headquarters of the American Rescue Workers, No. 330 Tremont street, more than 1,000 dinners will be served.

The Salvation Army is prepared to feed more than 1,000 kiddies at Ford Hall. The Volunteers of America at their Cambridge street headquarters will distribute 2,500 dinners, distribution starting about after noon today.

The Story of a Clever Boston Girl and Her Temperamental Sister

READ THIS FIRST

SALLY JEROME, 20, is the mainstay of her family. Her father had deserted his wife and his children. Besides Sally there are the twins, BEAU and MILLIE, aged 21. Millie, the family beauty, is always losing jobs when her mother's "get gay" with her.

Sally works at home in the mornings, for her mother is a semi-invalid. In the afternoons she works for MR. PEEVEY, an elderly eccentric, who does a small mail-order business in Chaucery street. TED BLOAR, who lives with her mother in the flat below the Jerome flat in Rameway street, is a "dancing fool," and Sally has become very friendly with him. But when he tries to make love to her she pulls him up short. Sally sees a handsome man in the elevator. She learns that he is John Nye, with an office across the hall. Sally smashes a bottle of Mr. Peevey's milk in the corridor, and young Nye happens along and goes to buy another bottle. Ted proposes to Sally, but she promises her mother not to wed him. Sally tells Millie that Nye needs a stenographer. Mabel Wilnot gives a party at the Jerome flat. Sally's funds are nearly gone and she decides to appeal to her Aunt Emily. But Aunt Emily is planning to open a tea room.

CHAPTER I

BEAU glanced up from his newspaper. "I don't know why it is any more," he said. "You don't have to pay for it, do you?"

Sally did not answer him at once. She dropped down into a chair and stared at the paper. "I don't know," she said. "I don't know."

Mr. Peevey came in. "Sally, my dear," he said. "I have a letter for you. It is from your mother. She is very ill. She is very ill."

Sally took the letter. "I don't know," she said. "I don't know."

ANITA LOOS

ANITA LOOS TO LOAF FOR LIFE

New York, Nov. 23 (A.P.)—Anita Loos, with enough money in the bank to live for the rest of her life, is said to be planning to loaf for the remainder of her life.

The philosophy of the notoriety author and her fifty-three-year-old husband, John Emerson, is expressed in their return from Europe. "I like it while you can have it, and then start enjoying it. You will still have enough life left in you to enjoy the pleasures that spending it brings."

Mr. Emerson, also an author and at present president of the Actors' Equity Association, says "Anita doesn't get sufficient to live on from her pen. She is not a writer."

DENY COMPLICITY IN SALISBURY RUM PLOT

Boston, Nov. 23 (A.P.)—General denial of complicity in the Salisbury rum conspiracy were made in court here today by John Griffin of Gloucester and Captain Harry P. Burnham of the First Island Coast Guard station.

Griffin testified he was not a navigator, never swindled or operated a rum boat and therefore could not have gone to sea with Anthony Capomano for a load of liquor, as he once had testified. Griffin said he had a dispute with Capomano in a poker game and Capomano had threatened, "I will get even with you yet." He said Capomano claimed his submarines had never reported to him fifty rum vessels had been unloaded at Salisbury beach.

Prospective Goodfellows Urged to Rush Along Their Letters

A length of cardboard slipped into a tattered little shoe is not much protection against the cold slash of the city's sports.

The warmth of a school room does not carry over into an unheated barren tenement room. Smells of cooking food leaching from restaurant doors cannot quench the aspires of underfed boys and the sleet of glorious oils in store windows cannot satisfy round-eyed little girls.

Christmas is crowding in, and numbers of little children face a Christmas day of bone-chilling emptiness, cold, hunger and despair.

With little reason to hope, these children yet hope. They dream of Santa Claus. They dream of presents of toys and new clothing and candy and oranges and sand. They dream of a warm fire in the grate and a mother's smile from the doorway.

But many of these ones are going to be disappointed. Their Christmas is to be as barren as the most barren of their days; and more sorrowful because of their disappointed hopes.

FRAIL BOY INHERITS MILLION

Too Light to Win Fame in Athletics, He Achieves It by Riches

Worcester, Nov. 23.—The inconspicuous boy's dream of becoming suddenly the most prominent boy in his school came true today.

Frank little Paul Brown, 24, too young and too light to participate in the athletic affairs that make schoolboys famous among their comrades, has become the most-talked-of boy in Worcester Academy. He has inherited $1,100,000.

The boy is to receive half his share of his grandfather's estate when he reaches the age of 20, the other half at 25. In the meantime all his expenses will be paid by the income from the vast sum.

The bequest is part of a $12,000,000 fortune bequeathed by Paul Brown, 84, Louis real estate dealer, who many years ago forsook school teaching to enter the tobacco business and started on the road to wealth.

A WONDERFUL CHANCE

And they are not children of far-off Asia or Africa. They are the child-slaves of distant hill communities, or the roving bands of Russia. They are self-respecting, intelligent children of New England, and a smattering of the beautiful New England dialect.

They are going to grow up knowing a mystery. They are going to spend this Christmas looking out through elegant windows for Santa Claus that will never come.

Unless you and hundreds of other kind-hearted readers of the Boston Evening American will forward and accept your appointment as Santa Claus.

There is no need of the least suffering the pains of real disappointment. Little Christmas trees are plenty of kindly New Englanders, able to care for their simple needs and their modest desires. It seems only necessary to bring the appeal directly to the eyes and the hearts of those who are able to answer it. And it is for this purpose that the Boston American Goodfellow Club was organized.

Through the workings of the Goodfellow Club, however, there are no direct appeals to the eyes and the hearts of those who are able to answer it. Letters received by the Boston Evening American, appealing for food or clothing or toys are investigated. The actual need is established, and the letters are then handed over to readers who have signified their willingness to sponsor the Christmas of some little family.

ACT QUICKLY

You are invited to join the Goodfellow Club today. There are no dues, and there are no obligations except such as you may discover for yourself following the receipt of a letter of appeal from a family whose Christmas is being sponsored by the Goodfellow Club. It will send you the actual letter of the child or the widowed mother in your hand. You will then act according to the urgings of your human sympathy.

The Boston Evening American urges you, however, to move quickly. The Christmas day of some little family is being sponsored by the Goodfellow Club. It will send you the actual letter of the child or the widowed mother in your hand. You will then act according to the urgings of your human sympathy.

NEED MORE FOR FLOOD RELIEF

An appeal for continuance of flood relief work in Vermont was made today by A. C. Hainsbury, chairman of the Vermont Metropolitan Chapter, American Red Cross.

"As the extent of the flood leaves behind it a trail of misery and suffering," Hainsbury said, "it is our duty to continue our work in that state until the flood has been completely eradicated."

SUES DOCTOR IN LOST LOVE CASE

Built for $25,000 for alleged breach of promise to marry was today filed by Miss Mary N. Archibald of Winthrop against Dr. Robert R. Winthrop, American Red Cross.

Miss Archibald is represented by a woman attorney, Miss Louis J. Buckley, who filed the suit for her in Middlesex County Superior Court.

The suit is for breach of promise to marry, and is for the sum of $25,000.

Coolidge Praises Boys Who Wear Fitting Pants

Washington, Nov. 23 (A.P.)—President Coolidge, praising boys who wear fitting pants, today received the New-England Preparatory school football team of Lawrence, N. J. When members of the team were received by the President today he complimented them because they did not wear trousers flapping around on the ground.

THANKSGIVING WILL BE WARM

Unseasonable temperatures with Vermont rain again threatening that airless sector of New England, gives promise of a warm Thanksgiving in contrast to the snow-cold fancies of the first and third weeks of this year.

Those who live in Vermont are not yet so much high, due to a heavy coat of rain with it to keep it warm.

A storm was sweeping from the western coast of America, is expected to reach the New England coast in the next few days, and is expected to bring a heavy rain with it.

CONDEMN TONS OF TURKEYS

Two tons of turkeys, intended for Thanksgiving tables, have been condemned by Boston health inspectors. It was announced today that the birds were found in various parts of the city, including freight yards, wholesale and retail warehouses, in a drive by tax inspectors looking for turkeys.

Health authorities attribute much of the spoilage to delays and disrupted conditions caused by the Vermont floods, in addition to the unseasonable warmth.

Always First When Big News Breaks

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN HOME EDITION

MR. SNYDER LOST DEAR

The news that Mrs. Ruth Snyder had lost her appeal to escape the electric chair for the murder of her husband was published exclusively in the Boston Evening American in its first and all later editions yesterday. Another Boston evening paper carried a dispatch saying that there was no foundation in truth for this information. Later in the day it found the truth and published as "news" information that had been supplied by the Boston Evening American six hours previous. If you want news when it is news, there is just one place to look, the first page of New England's live and enterprising daily, the Boston Evening American, clean, fearless, reliable, and always in touch with happenings the world over.

BOSTON AMERICAN SCORES AGAIN

The Boston Evening American scores again. There are no dues, and there are no obligations except such as you may discover for yourself following the receipt of a letter of appeal from a family whose Christmas is being sponsored by the Goodfellow Club. Candy for Holiday Feast

By MARTHA LEE

IF you are a good pilgrim, of course you will have lots of things to be thankful for this Thanksgiving Day. Suppose you are one of those providentially thin people, who eat all of the rich candies they like and never add a pound, then delight in nutty pennies and rich chocolate creams.

But if you are inclined to look at the candy counter out of one eye while you fasten the other one on the scales—then go easy. Choose out marshmallows to put in your fingers and egg whites to lighten your brown sugar candies. There are all sorts of awfully good candies that give pleasure without adding too many pounds.

And here is a secret to beat the high cost of cream, since candy made with cream is always less than candy made with milk. Use evaporated milk where the recipe calls for cream—and in 1 you can't tell the difference.

Chocolate Marshmallow Pudding. Put two cups of sugar, one cup of milk, or one-half cup evaporated milk and one-half cup water, and two squares of unwatered chocolate in the sauce pan. Heat gradually to the boiling point and let it boil until the mixture will form a soft ball when tried in cold water. Remove from range, cool for a minute or two, add three tablespoons of butter and as soon as the butter melts, beat until creamy. Add one teaspoon vanilla and fold in two marshmallows cut into small pieces. Turn into a buttered pan. Bake in a water bath.

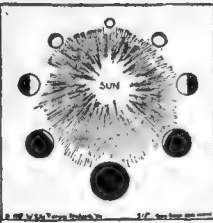

Cornstarch Foam. Beat two cups sugar in one-half cup boiling water and one-half cup corn syrup. Add a soft ball form in cold water (this degree F). Beat the whites of two eggs and pour the syrup gradually into them, beating constantly. Add one-half cup chopped nutmeats and four slices of canned pineapple, which have been drained and cut in a towel and cut into small pieces. Flavor with vanilla and beat until creamy. Pour into a buttered pan and cool.

Pennies. Combine one cup of evaporated milk, two cups sugar, eight "brown" and one-fourth teaspoon soda. Beat gently until well mixed in cold water it forms a soft ball. Beat until creamy, add one cup of chopped walnut meats. Pour into a well-buttered tin. When nearly cold cut in squares.

The Story of the Stars

(Galileo's Important Discovery)

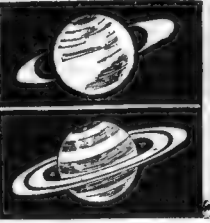

By Garrett P. Serviss

One of Galileo's first discoveries with his telescope was that Venus while going around the sun changes its apparent shape and shows phases like the moon. These phases are illustrated above.

Galileo also discovered that the great planet Jupiter had four moons circling around it. This, like the discovery of the phases of Venus, confirmed the Copernican theory.

The rings of Saturn were a great puzzle to Galileo. He once saw them as in the upper picture, but he never saw the rings complete as our telescopes show them, as in the lower drawing.

By dropping balls of various weights and sizes from the Leaning Tower of Pisa, Galileo proved that all bodies fall with the same speed, except for air resistance. (Continued Friday)

About Immunizing Against Diphtheria

By Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D.,
Former President of the American Medical Association.

YOU learned from my article yesterday how a certain "mild" immunity against diphtheria may be realized, and how, by the wonderful French test, we may know whether or not a person actually is immune. If one is found susceptible one may be artificially immunized. It may be explained in this way:

When diphtheria toxin is injected into an animal, antitoxin appears in the blood. Toxin, in other words, stimulates the formation of antitoxin. If a non-immune animal is injected, it takes a long time, about three weeks for the antitoxin to appear. This is called primary stimulation. An immune animal, however, starts producing antitoxin much more rapidly and much more plentifully than the non-immune. This is called secondary stimulation.

An injection of toxin has two effects. It causes the system to produce anti-toxin, and it also increases the power of producing antitoxin.

A antitoxin soon disappears from the blood, but he power to produce it remains for life. This means that, whenever diphtheria toxin enters the blood, the animal will at once produce antitoxin in large quantities and protect itself against the disease.

Moreover, stimulating the toxin is a natural mixture of toxin and antitoxin is more stimulating. If the toxin is treated with formalin it loses the power of giving the disease, but keeps all its powers of producing immunity. This means that there is absolutely no risk whatever in the immunizing process.

For most persons a dose of one cc. of prophylactic weekly for three weeks is enough to give them immunity, to make them "diphtheria negative." Some are more obstinate, but few require more than six doses. Just three weeks is too long to wait for immunity if there is an epidemic of diphtheria raging, and all wise communities immunize themselves before a outbreak can take to frighten the people into doing it.

The most dangerous age for a child is between two and five, and ideal aim at is to immunize all children between those ages. Compared with the cost of treating diphtheria, the cost of immunization is trifling. For a beggarly few dollars a child can be made immune probably for life, whereas, if it gets diphtheria, its treatment will cost many times as much.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BECKMAN

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN: Kindly let me know what color is the best to wear to a dinner party. The groom, best man and ushers. The ceremony is to take place at 7 p. m. Saturday. J. C. A. WITH a tuxedo suit only one kind of tie is ever correct—a black bow tie.

But a tuxedo is not correct for a five o'clock wedding. It is not correct to wear a dinner jacket (tuxedo) before six thirty at the earliest, and for a formal wedding a tuxedo is never correct.

For formal attire for a five o'clock wedding—which is a day dress for a woman and a dark striped tuxedo for a man.

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN: A girl friend of mine who is to be married next month is being given a dinner in her honor by a friend. My husband and I are invited, and I am in doubt as to whether to bring the guest of honor a gift. If so, what would you suggest, and should I bring it with me on the evening? I am under the impression that in this case the guest of honor should be given a gift, but I want to be absolutely sure. A READER.

I will not reason why you should take a present to the guest of honor of the party. Such a party is given in honor of the bride-to-be—and it would seem to me ridiculous for the guests to be expected to bring presents, too.

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN: 1. Is it correct for a groom to wear informal attire at a five o'clock afternoon wedding if his bride is in white with a tulle veil? 2. Is the groom obliged to give the best man a present? M. O. No. If the bride dresses formally—that is, with the wedding dress.

"You Said It, Marcelline"

By MARCELINE PALROY.

To many ENGLISHMEN, women are STILL divided (in their MINDS) into TWO classes: WIVES and WANTONS. The men are HARD TO GET ON WITH. No matter whether a WOMAN happens to be his one WIFE or his WANTON ONE.

Many FRENCHMEN divide into two categories, TOO. They EITHER consider them as MENTAL equals (which is RARE) or as alluring NATES (which is common). But the AMERICAN man seems to be OPEN-MINDED. In fact, some are so BROAD-MINDED that a GIRL can walk right INTO the big open SPACES of their HEARTS and set up ANY sort of an IDEAL there she PLEASES.

And in his SPARE Time he will WORSHIP it. In America ALL women are "GIRLS" and the great MAJORITY of men GALLANT. ALL countries have their PROBLEMS—BUT the GREATEST of which ARE WOMEN and POLITICS. (Copyright, 1917, Premier Syndicate, Inc.)

South is the dealer. What is the proper bidding and play?

In Friday's lesson Mr. Whithead will explain the salient points of the bidding and play of the above hand. Fill out your own play and compare it with his.

These hands must not be played or played "Double Dummy" as though all four hands were exposed.

Yesterday's Hand as Played by Mr. Whithead

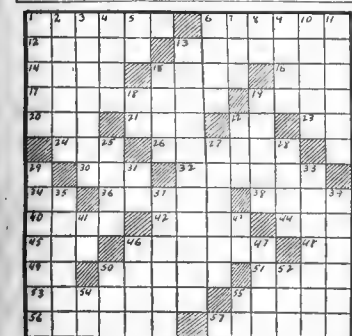

Salient Points of the Bidding

South, West and North lack high card strength required for an original bid. East has a diamond suit to start with because of his unexpected heart doubling. South's first with diamonds and his second for a defensive bid, nature West's bid of one No Trump is a denial and at the same time is a proving bid. North's two heart bids while not justifiable over an original No Trump, is justifiable over a pre-empted one, as an effort to discontinue back into a No Trump bid, rather to defend, rather than to start with the Queen of hearts. The second bid was motivated by the fact that North's bid of one No Trump, holds one or more aces in hearts, and if he can compare, may fear to bid two No Trumps should he find that he has one or more aces in hearts.

Salient Points of the Play

Trick 1. West leads the Queen of hearts in the hope of presumption that North, as a defensive bid, should hold the King of hearts. This is a mistake. The King is removed by South's lead to the Ace of hearts. South should hold the King of hearts. Trick 2. As all four of hearts are in the hands of the King is removed by South's lead to the Ace of hearts. South should hold the King of hearts. Trick 3. As all four of hearts are in the hands of the King is removed by South's lead to the Ace of hearts. South should hold the King of hearts.
